

iMessage
5/4/19, 2:12 PM

Timothy Scott Harrelson

Over the past few days there has been an increase in suspects under the influence of what is believed to be a bad batch of spice. We had (2) incidents yesterday during day watch hours and today , as of 1240 hours, there have been 4 incidents within the RESET area. So far 3 of the 4 subjects involved were transported by RA for drug overdose. We currently have no deaths. Last year this same type of incident started and in 1 shift there were 57 people who went down and were transported. Im sending this out as a FYI, these subjects are becoming more and more aggressive towards officers and FD. Please pass along to you people.

Ellen Riotto

Thanks for the heads up. Be safe out there

Thank you